“ Sgt Macino thank you for being my first Sgt. when I joined the MPPD in 1997 and making a young rookie feel so welcome and part of a family. You could always make us laugh at roll call with your awesome police stories from years past. You were one of a kind and I feel lucky to have known you. Ofc Lascola 46

“ I had in total 3 grandfathers in my life, One that was never there, one that passed when I was young then I had you.. who was there when I was born till now at the age of 30... I now have lost all 3 but I am so lucky to of had you in my life, we might not of been blood but you were my grandfather and I loved and love you always. From dressing up in your police uniform when I was little to watching TCM and listening to all the amazing Italian oldies.. growing up with you as my grandfather and always taking that active roll to love and care for me and my brother and Jack and Max that is what makes you amazing and wonderful in my eyes. From listening to all you amazing stories on the force to stories about your family, I am so lucky and blessed to of had you as a grandfather. I love you grandpa.

“ There is a fun, loud, crazy reunion going on in heaven right now as the Campanelli/Macino families reunite!

Uncle Guy will certainly be missed, and we are so grateful to Gerri for the love and care she shared with Uncle Guy. He was so fond of her family. Rest In Peace!

“ Uncle Guy, what can I say about one of the best uncles anyone could have... He started so many of his sentences with" it's none of my business, but," and he was right sometimes it was none of his business and that was what I loved the most about Uncle guy... he made your business his business if he loved you... Some may see it is interfering, but all I heard as he questioned, listened, and gave his advice was" I love you care about you and want to help you" ... he never let up. and ended every phone call with " I love you do you hear me? "... " " Call me if you need me"... And he meant it. I didn't appreciate him when I was young but I sure appreciated him when I got older. My son Jeremy asked if he could use Uncle guy as a grandfather that he never had. He loved him dearly. I thank God we had him as long as we did. He was like a dad to us since my dad died over 21 years ago and a grandfather to all my nieces and nephews. We all cry to see him go, but, will laugh hysterically thinking and reminiscing about all the great times we had together. Until we see you again Uncle guy. Please know that you were deeply loved and greatly appreciated. Until we meet again. I love you and we'll all miss you. Love TC
