“ My wife never got to meet Angie, but she was my first true “mom” away from home. I would often spend the night, eat, play games, play sports, and hang with her son Don and his family, daily. Angie treated me as one of her own for a time in my life I needed some outside family attention and shelter. I told my wife that she and her family are wonderful people. Rest In Peace. I will pray over all the Beltrames this week and from here on out. Love you, Angie.

“ So sorry to the family. I grew up with her and shared many an adventure. All the dances, and riding to high school together. Hanging out in our houses. Being kids and teenagers. We grew up and lost touch, but was happy to have found her again a few years ago.

Glad to have found her again. Felt like time stood still. I will always remember Angie...kind, generous and funny. Love you girlfriend. Until we meet again.
