“ I have to say Dino became a friend of mine since I started working at the circle k off Grand and 25th. He had his ways but still always recognized life. We had many conversations that involved his family, especially his son. He loved and acknowledge them in every conversation we had. He definitely made made an impression on me when it came to talk about who we all care about. He had a different perspective on how we should look life. All in all, Dino was Dino,
Thank you Dino for becoming a friend of mine and sharing your thoughts and feelings.
