“ Aunt Gail was funny and spirited with many stories to share. She shared her wisdom with us on faith, life, prayer, and health. Her love for Jesus was apparent. Going to her house and spending time with her and Uncle Sam was a special time. She would cook and share her scarves and jewelry, her dollhouse, and her love of family. I can remember times when she cared for us in sickness and in health. Her foot rubs and laugh were a big help! Milestones were shared such as sacraments like weddings and baptisms, even prom. In college, there were letters shared and encouragements made to help me as I lived away from home. My children would visit Gail to play, hear stories, and enjoy the piano by her side. I will miss her dearly and know that she will be thrilled to see her beloved Sam and her parents and family again.

“ We are all going to miss Auntie Gail...her love, her stories, how she was “ahead of her time” in many ways, her insights into others, how much she cared for her family & those in her life, her smiles & big laughs...May God watch over her above

“ Aunt Gail was one of the sweetest, most honest and kindest person who joined our family when she married Uncle Sam. They loved each other very much and we're proud of their handsome sons. It was good to be with her at family gatherings because the subject of conversation could be anything from astrology to vitamins. She was a woman of faith and that carried her through her missing Uncle Sam during her widowhood. She always had a compliment or something nice to say about you. She was happy when the children in the family did well or accomplished something special. She saved pictures and was so happy to receive a card or phone call. She was a lovely lady and we will all miss her sweetness and love. May she enjoy the eternal rewards of heaven and be reunited with all those she so loved. Rest In Peace, our dear Aunt Gail.
