“ Still missing Mike all the time. He was so lively & upbeat. Will reach for the phone to call him before I remember he's no on this Earth any more.

“ I met Mike in 1986 in Chicago. We struck up a conversation and became friends. I lived in Indianapolis at the time. However, whenever I came to the city, we'd end up meeting out for a drink. Since then we have exchanged holiday greetings. When I received the Christmas card as "undeliverable as addressed" I thought the worse. I found his obituary. I must say that he was one of the most kindest, happiest person to be around and talk with. It's good to see such a wonderful smiling picture of him. My sympathy and prayers to all of you. He was one helluva guy!

“ My name is Vincent Magaraci and I had the pleasure of meeting Michael for the first time last May 2019 during a wonderful gathering with his auntie Rose's side of the family. I had first met Rose and Jack Vanderhout when their son, Patrick, invited me over to their home in West Linn, Oregon, as I had worked with Patrick at the SAIF Corporation in Portland, Oregon during the years of 1996 & 1997. Both of his brothers, Mickey and Jerry, were then introduced to my mother and myself and I have had a relationship with the family for many years. Mickey had been kind enough to invite me to the yearly gathering and I then called Michael on two occasions there after. I found him to be a very affable, good natured and down to earth gentleman who certainly reminded me of his auntie Rose and will supplicate the Lord to grant him eternal life each day when I make my rosary and devotional prayers. Our families should always be placed under the care of our Blessed Mother Mary and by her efforts, divine grace and charisms will ensure that each member seek the kingdom of our Lord each day and prepare for our encounter with her son, our Lord Jesus at the hour of death. May the Lord grant all of you faith, hope and peace during this time of your bereavement and great sadness of not having Michael on this earth any longer to share with him your love, warmth and laughter.
