I still haven't gotten over losing my best friend... I miss him every day

Richard Leoni - November 09, 2025 at 11:39 PM

“ We're asked to share a memory. There just seems to be so many of them, how do you pick just one or two when you've known someone your entire life? Remembering him as possibly one of the kindest people I've ever had the pleasure of growing up with and knowing into adulthood is my greatest memory. He is missed on such a deep level. Rest peacefully Pete. We love and miss you.

Most Sincerely,

Natalie Bell Townsend

“ A few days ago, I received that terrible call telling me we had lost Pete. I have lost a lot of friends and family over the years, but losing Pete has left a terrible emptiness in my heart. A huge part of the foundation of my childhood is now gone, which has shaken me deeply. Like many people, I struggle with my own mortality, but I always knew my Long time friends were still there. It has made growing older a little easier. But with the unbelievable loss of Pete, my World like others has just gotten a little darker.

You see, Pete was a Solid guy. The guy everyone who was his friend admired him. He was honest and truly cared about people he loved. I do not believe I could find anyone who could say otherwise. And he was not afraid to tell you how he felt. He made you feel loved, even if time had passed since you last talked. He never missed calling on my Birthday. And I always remembered his.

The hardest part in the last couple of days has been my mind just racing with the memories of the adventures we had. From being crazy on the Grade School playground, to the Daylong bike trips, to Pete buying his first new car. What a Cool Camaro that was. . You see, we were the "Stand by Me guys". That was Our time. We goofed on each other, but were there for each other, especially Pete. He was the consistent one. You could count on Pete, never leaving a buddy behind. Not Ever! And the adventures.... What fun we had. And boy I'm glad Pete was my friend during it all.

I'm not sure where we go after our short time here. I guess I always hoped that when my time is done, I end up somewhere nice, peaceful. I'm sure there must be a Heaven now, there just has to be. Because God has had to create a Great place for guys like Pete. you know... the Good, Pure-Hearted ones. There just has to be.

I'm just hoping that when it's my time, Pete puts in a good word for me. I know they let him in heaven thru the Express line and I can't wait to see him with his wings. He deserves a real nice pair!!

I will think of you often Pete.

Your friend

“where do i begin to explain the profound sadness i feel. although i have not maintained an on going friendship with pete. he has never drifted far away from my thoughts.. we grew up as childhood friends. road bikes, hung out at sharps pool, played ball, did stupid and crazy things like jumping off a 3 story building into a pile of sand. if you have ever seen the movie the sand lot. well that is exactly how life was way back when. john b, rick zeeb, ricki l. we were quite a bunch. there are some funny things i remember about going to petes house. chipsahoy cookies, peanut butter. but in petes house they liked it crunchy style. why in the world would that remain in my memory. climbing over the back yard fence when i came over to visit. yeah rick there are wonderful memories that i will treasure for the rest of my life. i love you pete rest with god.

“ I've known Peter since I was in grade school. He was a kind boy and a fine man. He was small in stature, but he had a big heart. Pete was one of my brother Rick's best friends growing up. I would tag along with them on adventures to material service co. Across lake street to hunt pigeons with bbq guns. His parents were always kind to us and we're also nice people. My brother tried to get a few guys from town together, for a friend's reunion out here in a few months. I had hope that Pete would be here and we could all have a nice bon fire and talk about old times....sometimes we reach out to our past friends to reconnect with our friends and get to enjoy memories, sometimes God reminds us that we are blessed to have the innocent company of childhood pals and experiences. Then we go off on our path in life through many years, however we still carry our most loved and trusted friends in our hearts and thoughts because they know us for who we really are. I'm saddened for the, once young boys, who expected to share their memories. Life seems to be short now days. Although I haven't seen or talked to Peter in many years, I would recognise his voice in a second! Thank you Peter for always letting me tag along with you guys growing up. I know that many people loved you as did the leoni brothers. So, to a very kind and fair friend who we shared our youth with, May you enjoy your new life in heaven with mom and dad! It's not all that much fun in getting old anyway bud...see you again old pal. Now that you have shed your physical self from this world, God will surely be glad to hold you in his arms once again. I'm sorry that I didn't have the chance to see you once more and to say, " I love you buddy" I'm faithful that you will receive my words and that them young boys will have that reunion one day in heaven. God has said yes to you....and he is smiling as you return to him....thank you Lord in heaven for such a good boy and sweet man.

Your pal always,
John leoni :)

“ I haven't seen Pete in a long time. I remember many things about him for example how he loved my baby sister and how he and I loved Sabath and Rush. He treated everyone so nicely. I miss him so knowing he is gone. I live in AZ and will not be able to make the service. Will send prayers to all of his loved ones. Love and miss you my friend. Gospeed.

“ Still can't believe my friend, Pete Cervone, is gone; and anguished that I can't make it back home for the service this weekend. Hope you & Earl got an intense game of Risk going on. You were one of the the kindest men I ever knew! "It takes 2 wings to fly." Watch over us, Pete...I know you've got those wings!

“ My sincere condolences to Pete's family and many friends. I know Pete for a very long time. Meet in the summer of 76. He and I dated for a while my freshmen year and I had the pleasure to accompany him to his senior prom. Rest in the light of forever peace Pete in the company of all your family and friends God called home too. You will be dearly missed by many.

“ This one hurts. I never met a man like Pete ever again. He was always kind, honest, humble, generous, fun to be around. We had some amazing times hanging out in another life. Time passes but we never forget people like Pete. I will remember him until it is my turn to leave this world. God speed my friend, you were truly one of the good ones.

Frank Sasso - January 17, 2018 at 09:01 PM

“ Peter as I always called him was one of the best people anyone can be. He was a friend, really a friend, he cared about many and wasn't closed off about showing it. I have many Great memories with Pete from Jr high, through high school, and a few phone conversations over last several years since he found me on FB. He will be missed but the memories shall live on in my heart forever. He's watching over all of us, til we meet again...Fly High Dearest Peter, you were kived.

“ Pete was a great guy, never heard anybody ever say a bad word about him! We used to ride around in the Camero blasting Black Sabbath and Rush and used to sit in the basement and watch mash, loved riding around on his Sporty and just hangin out together with our crowd!! Had some of the best times of my life with Pete and even though we haven't got to spend time together anymore I'd do anything for him and he'd do anything for just about any of whether he knew them or not!! I'm gonna miss my friend, already do!! R.I.P. Pete, God's speed, see you soon!!!

“ I feel the loss as any closest family member can. I've know Pete since Kindergarten, and we played together ever since. We were in every class together too. Pete was my brother, I loved him very much. We had so many adventures together throughout the years. I loved Sunday dinners at his house and always having "the usual" around to eat (Chips Ahoy Chocolate Chips) I can honestly say that I don't know anybody who was ever angry with Pete or a time where he was mean or aggressive to someone. He truly was happy just going easy and being himself. It was blissful to me as I never achieved that. It was so comforting to reach for the phone and dial the same number as I did as a kid and hear his voice at the other end. Even if time happened to go by it was as we just spoke or seen each other the day before.. So many times I would put the phone on speaker and play my guitar into it for him to listen to and evaluate a new tune I was learning....he was honest about it. I figured we would go through life together at least into our 70's. Last Saturday 1/13 we spoke for a hour or so as usual , I played a Rush song and a Black Sabbath song for him on the guitar on speaker phone...we had fun. The last thing we said to each other was me saying " Love ya boood" and he said " Yeah, love ya too boood" . How fortunate to be able to do that , especially when that was the last time we would ever speak. We called ourselves "Boood" that to each other since we were kids. He is a true treasure lost.

Peter, my dear cousin, always had a kind word for all. How he loved Rush. He will be missed by family. There will be an empty chair at our holiday meals. Now he is with his mother and father.
