“ Uncle Sam will be greatly missed. I will always remember the time he gave me my first shot of espresso. We had just finished eating the most delicious bowl of pasta, thanks Aunt Gracie for always making the most delicious food, when everyone started drinking their espresso. I was maybe 6 years old and I looked up at Uncle Sam and asked if I could have one of those. He looked around, made sure no one was looking and gave me what I thought was the worlds smallest coffee. Unfortunately for my parents that was not the case, and so began my love of coffee. Every time I have an espresso I think of my Uncle Sam.
